

Homework Part 1: Responsibility

Drew Guarnera & Heather Michaud

Project A and B Part 1 was a close collaboration between its two project team members. Majority of the testing plan content was written while both members of the team discussed the task of providing acceptance testing (NYPL) and viability testing (TinyDB) within the scope of the two projects. Each idea for the methodology and plan was derived from personal work experience, previous development experience, and the content of the software testing course for which this project is assigned. The other remaining parts of the project, single test prototypes and requirements were done in a similar fashion but with significant starting contributions from the team members as stated below.

Drew

- Development of test prototypes for Part1 B
- Requirements for Part1 A

Heather

- Development of test prototypes for Part1 A
- Requirements for Part1 B
